

Announcement: Change of Duties

It's no secret that Arthur Wynyard is one of our senior advisers and is a valuable part of our team. Many of you will have spoken to Arthur or met him and will appreciate his talent for explaining things clearly. He is an accomplished adviser and I greatly appreciate his practical, no-nonsense approach. You may be aware that unlike most financial advisers we do not give our staff sales targets, instead preferring a good business model and honest advice.

Arthur enjoys working with the firm and from today will cease his role as an adviser. His role is changing so that his skills and significant experience are used to support me more closely becoming what we call a paraplanner. He will no longer be able to provide financial advice, but will work with me to serve our clients, in reality this is what has been happening for several months already, but we have now formally made this alteration, advising both the FSA and our clients.

I would like to publicly thank him for his work as an adviser over the years and for the contribution he has made to Solomon's and the improvement of the finances of our clients. He is now on his Christmas break and will be back in the New Year.
